About the Disks

Stickybear Music-Music Library 1 contains dozens of songs that can be played, edited, printed, and saved. Note: Music Library 1 is an add-on program and must be used in conjunction with the Stickybear Music program.

NOTE: YOU SHOULD MAKE A COPY OF YOUR MUSIC LIBRARY 1 DISK.

Once you have the original safely tucked away, you can experiment without worrying about losing the original songs. The Music Library 1 disk can be copied using COPYA (under DOS 3.3) or the ProDOS System Utilities volume copy option.

To Use

Stickybear Music-Music Library 1 must be used in conjunction with the Stickybear Music program.

Boot the original Stickybear Music disk according to the directions in the manual. After the title panel, the Main Menu will be displayed. To load a song from the Music Library 1 disk and hear it played, use the arrow keys or the I and M keys to move the highlight box to the word UTILITIES and press the space bar or Return key. This will bring you to the Utilities Menu.

At the Utilities Menu, move the highlight to LOAD SONG and press the space bar or Return key. This will give you the Load Song Menu.

Single disk drive users • Select DRIVE 1 and then move the highlight to LOAD SONG and press the space bar or Return key. The program will ask: LOAD FROM D1? Press Y to load from drive 1. When the program asks you to enter the filename of the song, take out the Stickybear Music disk and place the Music Library 1 disk in the drive. Type in the name of the song and press Return.

When the song is loaded, the program will ask you to put the program disk (Stickybear Music) in drive 1 and press any key. This will return you to the Utilities Menu with the song you have loaded in memory.

Double disk drive users • Move the highlight to DRIVE and press the space bar or Return key to change the drive number to 2. Now move the highlight to LOAD SONG and press the space bar or Return key. The program will ask: LOAD FROM D2? Press Y to load from drive 2. Place the Music Library 1 disk in drive 2. Type in the name of the song and press Return. The song will be loaded into memory, and you will return to the Utilities Menu.

All users • At the Utilities Menu, move the highlight to EXIT. This will return you to the Main Menu. Select PLAY SONG to hear the song. Now you can continue in the same fashion as you did with the Stickybear Music disk. The Music Library 1 songs can be loaded, played, edited, printed, and saved.
